Hollywood Volunteers Look for Community Donations

Life member Kelley Bean and HVRS Preside Barbara Wible

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

The membership of the Hollywood Volunteer Rescue Squad say they have outgrown their facility on Rescue Lane and need to make renovations and additions.

But they need community donations to make that happen, they say.

The volunteers already have two sheds filled with equipment and apparatus they say really belong indoors at the main building, which was built in 1982.

That structure can only fit three vehicles, said Kelley Bean, an emergency medical technician and life member there.

"But we have six vehicles," Bean said, four ambulances and two chase vehicles.

Like many other rescue squads in St. Mary's, the squad is fully staffed by career personnel during the day and at night volunteers take over.

The volunteers are just as busy, Bean said, which helps necessitate the improvements at the station.

"You're going to run your crew all night," Bean said. "You're going to be out all night, unfortunately."

Barbara Wible, president of the squad, said COVID had taken its toll on the membership.

"They were told [by their employers] to either give up their volunteer work or give up their paid job," Wible said. "They didn't want people bringing COVID back into the office."

The membership is holding a community meeting Sept. 13 to encourage residents to support the squad's efforts to increase its footprint.

The estimated cost of the renovations and additions the squad wants is high: $3.5 million, but they are not expecting residents to donate that entire sum.

"This is going to be no Taj Mahal," Bean said. "This will be a functional space for what we need."

That includes enough space to put all emergency vehicles under one roof, a dedicated gear room, better security to include new cameras, and office space for administrative purposes.

"We're asking for just one office, a larger office," Wible said.

The open house on Sept. 13 is also designed to show residents the cramped quarters at the rescue squad and the need to improve them, said Bean.

"Anything would help," Bean said. "Seeing and saying are two different things."

Esperanza MS Mold Clean Up Could Take Another Week

Superintendent Dr. J. Scott Smith

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

At the Aug. 28 meeting of the St. Mary's County Board of Education, Superintendent Dr. J. Scott Smith told board members that the remediation of the mold found in the ceiling of Esperanza Middle School (EMS) just days before the beginning of school could take another two weeks.

Smith went into detail about how the mold was found and that once a wet ceiling tile was found by building services workers, the investigation into the area between the ceiling tile and the top roof itself revealed the contaminant's presence.

"Now, we could have stopped right there but that's not the way our operations staff works, that's not the way the maintenance staff works. We recognized we had a problem with the HVAC [heating, ventilation and air conditioning] system."

The HVAC system at EMS is approximately 20 years old, Smith said, having been replaced in the early 2000s.

"And so for 20 years all of the piping for the HVAC... had been up in that space and it would appear that the wrapping of those pipes has deteriorated over time, allowing moisture to escape," Smith said. "Moisture in a humid, confined space [results in] mold."

The instances of mold were so extensive, Smith said, that it pervaded many class rooms, resulting in the entire 8th grade class having to be transported to the University System of Maryland at Southern Maryland campus in California for instruction.

Students in the 6th and 7th grades were able to return to school after a few days of virtual learning.

Smith said the initial finding of mold led to the whole building being tested.

"We wanted to make sure the air quality throughout the building wasn't compromised," Smith said. "Teachers and staff were never in a space where there was unacceptable level of mold."

"But all of it has to be remediated." Local environmental cleanup contractor Servpro has sealed off 14 classrooms worth of space, Smith said, in its remediation efforts.

"They're going to address all mold that's found up above," Smith said. "And then they're going to test everything to make sure that the air is clean."

Another subcontractor will then rewrap the piping with "state of the art" materials that are "most resistant" to mold, Smith said.

Superintendent: Most Students Adhering to Cell Phone Rules

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

The new policy of students keeping cell phones turned off and stowed away during the instructional day appears to be working, Superintendent Dr. J. Scott Smith told the St. Mary's County Board of Education last week, with cell phone confiscations making up a tiny fraction of disciplinary actions.

According to statistics from the first five days of school for the 2024-2025 school year, there were a total of 209 cell phone confiscations, almost all of them in the high school grades.

The highest number of cell phone confiscations took place on the first day back to class on Aug. 21 with 21 confiscations each at Chopticon and Great Mills high schools and 13 at Leonardtown High School.

That number dropped sharply the following day with just 10 seizures at Chopticon, 19 at Great Mills and six at Leonardtown.

By Aug. 27 there had been three confiscations at Chopticon, nine at Great Mills and 11 at Leonardtown.

The total confiscations on the first day of classes versus the fifth was 61 down to 32.

On each day, cell phone confiscations accounted for less than one percent of the total disciplinary infractions recorded, the data, which accounted for 9,366 students in middle and high school grades locally, presented at the Aug. 28 school board meeting showed.

"Those [nearly] 10,000 students all have cellular devices because you can't be a teenager in United States and not have your cell-phone," Smith told board members. "They spent the entire summer — and their lives — on their cell phone... they rolled into school [on the first day] and we only confiscated 61 phones.

"If we see it, we're taking it."

Under the new rules, promulgated in the summer through the actions of a stakeholder committee looking at the effects of cellphones on student behavior and performance, students in middle and elementary schools must keep their phones deactivated and stowed away during the entirety of the instructional day; elementary students are encouraged to leave their phones entirely.

High school students are allowed to use their phones during lunch period but nothing beyond that.

Violations of the policy lead to confiscation and return of the cell phones to the student's parent or guardian.

"It's working," Smith said of the policy. "One thing I've noticed is that the hallways are a little louder.

"They're louder because kids are talking to each other as opposed to staring at phones."

Base Commander Remembers 9/11

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

In 1998, NAS Patuxent River CO Capt. Douglas Burfield, had graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis and was just starting his naval career as a helicopter pilot.

In a few short years as a lieutenant junior grade he, and the rest of the nation's military, would be at war against terror after the strikes against the Pentagon and the World Trade Center in New York that left almost 3,000 Americans dead and thousands more injured.

Burfield told The County Times he was already headed home after a deployment to the Middle East when the attacks happened Sept. 11, 2001. He was part of an aircraft carrier strike group, flying resupply and search and rescue missions.

"We turned around and went back to duty," Burfield said. "We changed our deployment; it affected our whole nation."

Though he was a graduate of the elite naval education institution, he was still new to the military deployment life.

"That was my first deployment," Burfield said of what the Navy was like just before 9/11. "I was taking it all in; it was a steep learning curve."

His missions of search and rescue and logistical transfer of resources by helicopter from ship to ship did not change, though; it was what he and so many others had been trained to do.

Their mission now focused on supplying U.S. forces engaged in a counter insurgency shooting war.

But, for Burfield, except for a much-increased tempo of operations and many more numerous and longer deployments, he didn't feel much different in his day-to-day duties.

"I don't think I felt like I was at war," Burfield said. "There was much more heightened security and we were working faster for longer periods of time."

While sailors, soldiers, airmen and marines were trained to some degree to deal with the increased deployments and the stress that accompanied them, their families back home didn't necessarily have that.

"We're deployed 24/7 [the military] and we always are," Burfield said. "But I think the families felt it mostly more than the service members."

"You went further for a longer period of time."

Burfield had multiple deployments to the Middle East during the Global War on Terror and he spent time back in the U.S. helping others to deploy and train them up for service.

He also had a tour of duty at the Pentagon and credits the Navy with allowing him to have some time at home while on duty to spend with his family.

But it wasn't easy for either him or them. "It builds up after a while," Burfield said of the strain on family through deployments.

"You learn that to maintain our freedoms we enjoy, this has to happen."

Burfield met his wife after his first deployment, he said, and they started a family with the full knowledge that he would be gone much of the time.

His two oldest sons, 18 and 15 years old, were the first of his four children to experience that.

"They remember me being gone a long time and quite often," said Burfield, 48.

But the time apart, while difficult, made them appreciate the time they had together all the more, he said.

It also helped them grow stronger, he said.

"It's made them resilient and appreciate the time we have together," Burfield said. "My wife has been a true champion through all of this."

While serving as the commanding officer of the naval air station, Burfield still flies helicopters, though his main mission is providing the best facility possible for all the other tenant commands there such as NAVAIR.

He credits his family with supporting him in his career to serve what he calls a "greater cause" of defending the country.

"That's helped me to stay in the Navy," Burfield said.

He calls serving at Naval Air Station Patuxent River "a blessing" and appreciates how Southern Maryland as a whole recognizes the military and veterans' service to their country.

It was especially important to remember, he said, the ones the nation lost in the terror attacks and those service members lost in the war fighting back.

"It's important to pause and reflect on how we maintain our freedom and what it takes to defend it," Burfield said.

Town House Project Up for Public Hearing

An artist's rendering of Riverside Townhomes

By Guy Leonard
 Staff Writer

The county's planning commission is set to hear the concept site plan for a project proposal to build 42 new town homes in California, near the intersection of Route 4 and 235 at its Sept. 9 meeting.

The project, known as Riverside Townhomes, would be built on 4.75 acres on Three Notch Road.

The townhomes to be built by LAHACO Investments, LLC, would be 120 feet in length and approximately 20 feet wide and less than 40 feet in height.

The traffic study for the project states the development would have a strictly controlled right-turn-in, right-turn-out only access point on Three Notch Road despite its proximity to Three Notch Road's intersection with Route 4.

The project would be sited on the northbound side of Three Notch Road just north of the intersection with Route 4.

According to the traffic study, entered into the record by Lenhart Traffic Consulting Inc., the project would generate approximately 252 daily vehicle trips in addition to the traffic already in the area.

The traffic study reported this addition would amount to only a fractional increase in nearby area traffic.

John Seisman, a dentist who operates a practice in the vicinity of where the project is slated, wrote to the planning commission that he was concerned about it, the administrative record showed.

Seisman wanted the planning commission to consider how more green space could be conserved along with the project.

"The proposed development would significantly impact these resources, diminishing the aesthetic and ecological resources of the area" Seisman wrote. "The preservation of these green spaces is vital for maintaining environmental balance and supporting local biodiversity."

Fire Destroys Clements Home

By Guy Leonard
 Staff Writer

A Sept. 2 house fire on Long Road in Clements caused $100,000 in damages to a two-story, single-family home, though no one was injured as a result, State Fire Marshal's investigators say.

The fire occurred shortly after 7p.m. and was contained to the upstairs bedroom; it was found by the homeowner.

It took 48 firefighters from the Seventh District Volunteer Fire Department 15 minutes to put out the fire, which is initially being considered by investigators to be accidental.

Investigators have not released the cause of the fire as of press time.

State Approves Permit for Route 5 Widening Project

The 111-year-old bridge over the St. Mary's River.

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

The traffic problems that have continued at the intersection of Route 246, also known as Great Mills Road, and Route 5 have become some of the most troublesome in St. Mary's and there have long been plans to improve the intersection and surrounding infrastructure.

With the latest notification from the state's Department of the Environment (MDE), those plans appear one step closer to action.

In an Aug. 22 letter to the Commissioners of St. Mary's County and nearby property owners, the MDE issued environmental permit approval for the state project to widen Route 5 between the Route 246 and Indian Bridge Road intersection.

This project also includes the replacement of the bridge over a portion of the St. Mary's River, which is nearly a century old.

The section of Route 5 to be widened would be increased to four lanes from its current two, the missive reads.

Aside from helping to decrease the long queues of traffic on Route 5, the road widening will also help increase pedestrian access and utility there, the notice from MDE said.

The bridge replacement and widening of the road is also designed to reduce flooding impacts which can happen multiple times in a year, often after heavy rains.

The preferred alternative building plan for the replacement means the bridge would be widened slightly to 62 feet, while the overall width of the of the roadway would be 60 feet, the notice stated, complete with five-foot-wide sidewalks.

The bridge would remain at the same elevation; the speed limit there would be reduced from 45 to 35 miles per hour also, under that particular plan.

The permit to begin the project lasts until August of 2029 five years from now, according to state documents.

Pedestrian Fatally Struck in Charlotte Hall

At approximately 1:37 a.m. on September 1, 2024, patrol units from the St. Mary's County Sheriff's Office were dispatched to a motor vehicle collision involving a pedestrian in the area of Three Notch Road and Carpenter Lane, Charlotte Hall, MD, with CPR in progress.

The preliminary investigation indicates that a 2014 Chevrolet Traverse, operated by Samuel Robert Simmons, 41, of Saint Inigoes, was traveling southbound on Three Notch Road when a vehicle in front of him swerved to avoid a pedestrian walking in the right lane. Simmons also attempted to swerve but was unable to avoid striking the pedestrian, identified as Lew William Chavis, 39, of Gaston, S.C. Chavis was pronounced deceased at the scene.

Initial findings suggest that speed was not a factor in the collision.

Due to the nature of the incident, the St. Mary's County Sheriff's Office Collision Reconstruction Unit has assumed the investigation. Anyone who may have witnessed the collision or the events leading up to it and has not yet provided a statement is asked to contact Corporal Rachael Roszell at 301-475-4200, ext. 8108, or via email at Rachael.Roszell@stmaryscountymd.gov.

Driver Identified in Single-Vehicle Collision Fatality

At approximately 7:01 p.m. on Sunday, September 1, 2024, deputies from the St. Mary's County Sheriff's Office were dispatched to a reported single-car collision in the center median in the area of Route 5 and Oak Station Drive in Charlotte Hall.

Upon arrival, deputies discovered a 2021 Nissan Armada with extensive damage, indicating that the vehicle had flipped over. The sole occupant, an adult male, was pronounced deceased at the scene.

The driver and sole occupant of the 2021 Nissan Armada involved in Sunday evening's fatal car crash has been identified as 64-year-old Melvin Leon Elem of Baltimore, MD.

Due to the nature of the accident, the St. Mary's County Sheriff's Office Reconstruction Unit has assumed the investigation. Preliminary findings suggest that speed and alcohol were contributing factors in the collision.

Anyone who may have witnessed the collision or the events leading up to it and has not yet provided a statement is asked to contact Corporal Dale Reppel at 301-475-4200, ext. 8059, or via email at Dale.Reppel@stmaryscountymd.gov.

FEMA to Evaluate Readiness of the State of Maryland

Emergency preparedness exercise scheduled for Calvert Cliffs Nuclear Power Plant

The Department of Homeland Security, Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) will evaluate a Biennial Radiological Emergency Preparedness Exercise for communities around the Calvert Cliffs Nuclear Power Plant. The exercise will occur during the week of September 10, 2024, to assess the ability of the State of Maryland to respond to an emergency at the nuclear facility.

"These drills are held every other year to evaluate government's ability to protect public health and safety," said MaryAnn Tierney, Regional Administrator for FEMA Region 3. "We will assess state and local government emergency response capabilities within the 10-mile Emergency Planning Zone within the State of Maryland."

Within 90 days, FEMA will send its evaluation to the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) for use in licensing decisions. The final report will be available to the public approximately 120 days after the exercise.

FEMA will present preliminary findings of the exercise during a public meeting at 4:30 p.m. on September 12, 2024. The meeting will be conducted in person at the Crown Plaza Hotel, 173 Jennifer Road, Annapolis, MD. Planned speakers include representatives from FEMA and the NRC.

At the public meeting, FEMA may request that questions or comments be submitted in writing for review and response. Written comments may also be submitted after the meeting by emailing FEMAR3NewsDesk@fema.dhs.gov or by mail to:

MaryAnn Tierney
Regional Administrator
FEMA Region 3
615 Chestnut Street, 6th Floor
Philadelphia, PA 19106

FEMA created the Radiological Emergency Preparedness (REP) Program to (1) ensure the health and safety of citizens living around commercial nuclear power plants would be adequately protected in the event of a nuclear power plant accident and (2) inform and educate the public about radiological emergency preparedness.

REP Program responsibilities cover only "offsite" activities, that is, state and local government emergency planning and preparedness activities that take place beyond the nuclear power plant boundaries. Onsite activities continue to be the responsibility of the NRC.

Additional information on FEMA's REP Program is available online at FEMA.gov/Radiological-Emergency-Preparedness-Program.

Sheriff's Office Highlights Co-Responder Program

Recognizing Mental Health Response During Suicide Prevention Month

As the nation recognizes Suicide Prevention Awareness Month this September, the St. Mary's County Sheriff's Office (SMCSO) is spotlighting its innovative Co-Responder Program, a critical initiative designed to address mental health crises.

Since its inception in September 2021, the Co-Responder Program has been at the forefront of mental health intervention in St. Mary's County. Under the leadership of Alexis Higdon, the Community Mental Health Liaison, this program pairs sworn SMCSO Crisis Intervention Team members with a mental health professional on calls involving individuals in crisis. This unique approach allows for immediate mental health assessments and timely interventions, including connecting individuals with behavioral health care services.

Over the past three years, more than a hundred individuals have received timely mental health care assistance from this program. The co-responder program is a vital part of the Sheriff's Office's commitment to reducing the risk of suicide and improving mental health outcomes in St. Mary's County.

According to the most recent data available from the state's Department of Health from 2021, St. Mary's County experiences approximately 16 suicides per year.

To further support well-being, the SMCSO website, www.firstsheriff.com/community/resources, offers a comprehensive list of resources, contact information, and details for support services, including behavioral health, crisis management, financial assistance, and many other needs. Those needing immediate emotional support should call or text the Suicide and Crisis Lifeline at 988.

Final VH-92A Presidential Helicopter Delivered

Presidential Helicopters Program Office (PMA-274) and the Marine Corps accepted delivery of the final VH-92A helicopter, built by Sikorsky, a Lockheed Martin Company, in August. The achievement signifies the completion of the program of record to deliver 23 new presidential helicopters in support of the executive lift mission.

The total inventory of 23 VH-92A aircraft will consist of 21 operational and two test aircraft. This quantity allows for aircraft to be ready to support the executive lift mission, undergo various levels of maintenance, lifecycle upgrades, and provide assets for pilot/aircrew training.

"This exceptional team has successfully completed the program of record for the VH-92A within budget and schedule," said Brigadier General David Walsh, program executive officer for air anti-submarine warfare, assault, and special mission programs. "This helicopter not only embodies the hard work and dedication of those responsible for building and delivering the aircraft, but it will remain a recognizable patriotic asset known around the globe for safety, security, and reliability."

In May 2014, PMA-274, with approval from the Navy, awarded Sikorsky a contract to build the next presidential helicopter, the VH-92A, a derivative of the commercial S-92.

The new presidential helicopter was built to increase performance and payload over the VH-3D and VH-60N. It will provide enhanced crew coordination systems and communications capabilities in addition to improving availability and maintainability.

The Marine Corps works with the White House Military Office, PMA-274, and Marine Helicopter Squadron One (HMX-1) to ensure the conditions are set for a successful transition from the current in-service VH-3D and VH-60N aircraft to the VH-92A. Currently there are 10 VH-3D's, six VH-60N's, and 9 VH-92A's that support various missions assigned to HMX-1.

"Between the program staff and artisans within Sikorsky and PMA-274, we have the best and brightest. These great American's are experts at their craft and put their all into this platform," said Colonel Alex Ramthun, PMA-274 program manager. "Not only have we delivered increased performance and reduced maintenance costs and time over the current fleet of presidential helicopters, but we have also delivered the next phase of Marine One helicopters. Knowing those who step aboard any of the 21 VH-92A will have absolute top-notch execution, maintenance, and service for the life of the aircraft makes me proud to be part of this amazing team."

The VH-92A Patriot is in the midst of a phased plan to ensure a smooth, safe, and timely transition from the legacy VH-3D and VH-60N aircraft.

PMA-274 expeditiously provides safe, ready, high-performing, and affordable aircraft, capabilities, and support to HMX-1.

Archery Deer Hunting in Maryland Opens September 6

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources will open the archery hunting season for white-tailed and sika deer on Sept. 6. The season runs intermittently through Jan. 31, 2025.

Archers may use vertical longbows and vertical recurve bows Feb. 1 and Feb. 3-4, 2025 during the third annual Primitive Deer Hunt Days. Hunters should consult the 2024-2025 Maryland Guide to Hunting and Trapping for specific dates and closures in their region.

"Archery season is always exciting because it signifies the changing of the seasons, enabling hunters to really get on the ground (or in the stand) and take advantage of our abundant hunting opportunities," Wildlife and Heritage Service Director Karina Stonesifer said. "For many, archery season provides a fresh start for both new and experienced deer hunters. It allows folks to get outdoors, become reacquainted with nature, and if they're lucky, put some meat in the freezer."

For the 2024-25 deer season, the statewide bag limit for white-tailed bucks is two deer total (no more than one per weapon season). Hunters have the option to take one additional bonus buck in Region B (the state's central, southern, and eastern regions) after purchasing a Bonus Antlered Deer Stamp.

The antlerless archery deer bag limits differ between deer management regions. In Region A, comprising Western Maryland, up to two antlerless deer may be harvested during archery season, and no more than two total for all weapon seasons combined. Only one antlerless deer per day may be harvested in Region A. An additional antlerless deer may be harvested in Region A during the Primitive Deer Hunt Days.

In Region B, the antlerless archery limit is 15, except for in the Suburban Deer Management Zone, where the archery antlerless limit is now unlimited. This zone comprises Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Howard, Montgomery, and Prince George's counties.

Hunters intending to pursue sika deer must purchase a sika hunting stamp in addition to the archery stamp. Sika stamps may be purchased on the department's online licensing system, at a licensing agent, or by calling the department's Licensing and Registration Service at 866-344-8889.

New for the 2024-25 season, non-residents may purchase the sika hunting stamp for $200. The sika deer archery season bag limit is three with no more than one being antlered. An antlered sika is defined as a deer with at least one antler visible above the hairline. The sika deer archery season is open in every county.

Multiple Sundays are open to archery hunting in most counties, including on some public lands. Hunters can consult the 2024-2025 Maryland Guide to Hunting and Trapping for additional information on Sunday hunting and other deer hunting opportunities.

An antler-point restriction remains in effect. Deer hunters may harvest one antlered white-tailed deer within the yearly bag limit that does not meet the requirement of having at least three points on one antler. Any additional antlered deer taken within the established bag limit must meet the minimum point restriction. Licensed junior hunters and apprentice license holders who are 16 or younger are exempt from this restriction.

Hunters should carefully inspect all tree-stands and always wear a full-body safety harness while in the stand and while climbing in or out. The department strongly recommends using a sliding knot, commonly known as a prusik knot, attached to a line that is secured above the stand that allows the hunter to be safely tethered to the tree as soon as they leave the ground.

Hunters should report deer taken with a long, compound, or recurve bow as harvested with a vertical bow when checking in their deer. Crossbow hunters should register their deer as taken with a crossbow. This information helps biologists collect information on preferences and trends in how deer are harvested.

Hunters are encouraged to help others by donating deer taken in Maryland to food banks. A state tax credit offers hunters an incentive for donated deer. Other local or state programs are also available so hunters should check with their deer processors.

St. Mary's Horse Pull Team Wins Top Honors at State Fair

St. Mary's County resident and fair board director Bruce Barnes, alongside his brother Chuck Barnes, won the heavyweight horse pulling competition at the Maryland State Fair this past Sunday, competing under the team name "The Barnes Brothers."

Horse pulling is a historic sport of elimination where teams of draft horses compete to pull the most weight the farthest distance. The Barnes Brothers team of Belgian draft horses named Clay and Tug made a full pull (27.5ft) at 10,000 pounds earning them first place.

Bruce and Chuck started their journey with horses as young children logging alongside their father in the woods, learning the ropes of horsemanship and horse pulling.

Bruce is the current owner and operator of Barnes Logging and was Master Logger of the Year in 2020. Chuck, now retired, works with the horses on a daily basis to keep them fit and ready for competition. The heavyweight horse pull on Saturday nights at the St. Mary's County Fair is one of the biggest attractions of the fair each year.

A View From The BLEACHERS

JUDGING OTHERS

By Ronald N. Guy Jr.
Contributing Writer

This "View" lands well before the 21st night of September, but hopefully it will as cool as a funky Earth, Wind & Fire beat. Maggie, it's not even late September and kids are already back to school. "Wake me up, when September ends": really Green Day, dudes? You don't want to sleep through this screed!

Such an opening has to precede a passionate column on football's return. Yes indeed, the great American game is back – and with it, many things. Gameday rituals. Epic dips. Deep couch sitting. Remotes never, ever beyond arm's reach. And willfully, proudly neglecting chores. Look at that grass grow. Go nature! Has it sprouted yet? Has wildlife taken up residence? How many light bulbs are out? Mmmm... smell the fabulous fragrance of fermenting garbage. Should I wash laundry or order more boxers from the couch?

Ahhh... there will be plenty of time for pigskin. Embrace delayed gratification. For now, and for this column, baseball takes centerstage. Disappointed? Gimme 500 words to change your mind.

By "baseball", I mean Aaron Judge. I know, that is a very dangerous subject two hours south of Baltimore and with Birds fans circling throughout Southern Maryland. If it helps, I like the Yankees as much as "Green Eggs and Ham", which is to say not at all... Sam I am. But, their distinguished place in sports history is undeniable. With alumni like Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle, it is hard to impress in pinstripes. Judge has - he hit 62 homers in 2022 to set an American League record - and he's at it again this year.

Judge has a shot this year at eclipsing those 62 homers and he is currently posting a 0.464 on-base percentage (OBP), a career high. Regarding that OBP, if it holds, it would rank around the 150th best in MLB history. It is more impressive than that. Consider a few things. Of those seasonal OBPs greater than Judge's, only about 18 have happened since 1985. That's an arbitrary date, but the general attempt is to define a point in time before pitcher specialization. Batters now can expect to face three pitchers a night, all throwing 95 MPH-plus heaters and Wiffle ball-worthy breaking pitches. Further, of those 18-ish post-'85 OBP seasons, about two-thirds occurred during the steroid era (1994-2004), a time when growth in baseball's batting stats made the inflation of recent years appear to be a non-event. And one additional point: Judge, all 6'7" of him, is the classic baseball slugger. He has no business belting 60 bombs, hitting for average and basically having a coin flip's odds of getting on base. But he does all of the above. Dude is a human video game.

This is all presented to remind that, ease of Yankee-hatred aside, Judge is having a season. And if you love baseball, he deserves a tip of the cap.

Psychiatrist Carl Jung once said, "It is easier to judge than to think." Admission: when judging Judge's league-leading 2024 OBP, I was initially disappointed and unimpressed to find it buried 150 rows deep in MLB history. Then Yung reminded that additional thought was required. Context was important – eras, changes to the game, types of hitters and banned pharmaceutical boosts. With an appropriate pause to think on it, Judge's 2024 season is among the best in baseball history - period.

There's more. These next few months are sure to be challenging. Targeted ads and wild claims loosely based in or completed unmoored from fact will be blasted across the hinterland – an attempt to force final and absolute judgement on one candidate or another and, more importantly, on one entire group of supporters or the other. Just as Judge's season is deserving of deeper thought, so are our fellow Americans. For when this ends, we'll remain as interconnected and interdependent as always – for health care, education, safety, emergency services or an excellent cup of coffee on a rough Monday morning. Jung isn't wrong – it is easier to judge than to think - but the bet is he underestimated our willingness to hard thing, especially when doing so is the right thing.

The Tackle Box Fishing Report

By Ken Lamb
Contributing Writer

Perfect weather and perfect fishing will make a glorious September.

We have hardhead in the Patuxent in good size and numbers, maybe the best in a decade. Big spot are there and some sea bass.

There are rockfish in the deep holes and in the shallows of the Patuxent and Potomac and their tributaries.

The redfish/puppy drum/slot reds/channel bass/bull reds (all same fish just different sizes) are proliferating in the bay, rivers, and creeks.

Spanish mackerel, bull reds, cobia, and chopper bluefish are in the bay taking trolled surgical eels and small shiny spoons. Just drop over your number one or two planers and lure and hold on!

Shore fishermen are finding blues, reds, rockfish, spot and croaker on the moving tides. Bloodworm, lug worms, shrimp, and squid baits are all working well.

The catfish are starting to ease their way down from their summertime retreats in the upper rivers and fresher water. The catfish bite was good in Bushwood and Cobb Island this week.

Crabs are plentiful and huge for recreational pots off private docks. Chicken neckers are getting them, too.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by his sons, Richard Dennis "Buddy" Tippett III (Susie) of Loveville, MD and Joseph Michael "Joey" Tippett (Linda) of California, MD, his siblings, James Samuel Tippett (Peggy) of Leonardtown, MD and Gay Dawn Fowler (Jamie) of Avenue, MD, his daughter-in-law, Melissa Tippett, of Hollywood, MD, his grandchildren, Nicole Tippett, Richard Dennis "Ricky" Tippett IV, Courtney Tippett, Chad Tippett, and Bobbie Jo Tippett, and his great-grandchildren Savannah Smith, Ayden Tippett, Kaylee Woodburn, Brielle Jones-Hurley, Charlie Woodburn, Jackson Tippett, Jamison Tippett, Kevin "KJ" Bryant, Malachi Tucker, and Kenna Jo Bryant. He traveled to over 47 states during his racing times and had a love for driving nonstop until he needed fuel to get to his events. Richard enjoyed eating at his favorite restaurant, Abell's Diner.

Richard was well-known as one of the toughest, hardest working men you would know. He could figure out how to fix or build anything. He loved his wife, Coo-Girl, dearly, as she was always by his side, supporting him in all of his passions and adventures.

The family will receive friends on Monday, September 9, 2024 from 5:00 PM to 8:00 PM, with prayers recited at 7:00 PM, in the Mattingley-Gardiner Funeral Home, Leonardtown, MD. # Commissioners Close to Forming School Safety Committee

By Dick Myers
Staff Writer

The committee the Calvert County Board of County (BOCC) vowed to form at the end of this past school year in the wake of concerns about disruptive behavior at Calvert High School still has not happened as school opened for the new year, although the choosing of members appears to be imminent.

Deputy County Administrator Linda Turner, in a memo presented at the Aug. 27 BOCC meeting, wrote, "On May 29, 2024, the BOCC adopted Resolution 09-24, which established the Calvert County Student Safety and Well-Being Advisory Committee (SSWAC) to address increasing incidents in schools and concerns from parents, students, teachers, support staff and school administrators."

She continued, "Staff have received recommendations from the Calvert Education Association, Calvert Association of Educational Support Staff, Sheriff's Office, Maryland State Police, Maryland Center for School Safety, and the Calvert County Health Department to appoint members to the SSWAC. Additionally, the Office of the County Administrator, in collaboration with the Department of Community Resources, the Sheriff's Office, and Calvert County Public Schools, are currently reviewing applications for Districts 1, 2 and 3 residents and will be conducting interviews for top-scoring applicants in the next couple of weeks."

Temporary Constituent Services Specialist Emily Shreves, said at the meeting, "The resolution that was adopted has very specific membership requirements in terms of the seats on the committee," adding, "There are multiple organizations that we are partnered with to have seats on the Student Safety and Wellbeing Advisory Committee."

She said, "That is something that we have completed and will be ready for you. The other part of the membership requirements is that we have two seats per district, as well as an appointment from the Board of County Commissioners to serve as the chair of the committee. So that will be 15 total voting committee members on the Student Safety and Wellbeing Advisory Committee. There will also be some ex-officio members, so the Deputy County Administrator, Linda Turner, the superintendent, Dr. Townsel, as well as the Directors of Community Resources and Communications and Media Relations."

Appellate Court Affirms Murder Sentence

On September 4, 2024, the Appellate Court of Maryland affirmed the sentence of Ancil Tony Hamrick. Hamrick was convicted in Calvert County in 2001 of burglary and first degree premeditated murder. The victim was Darlene Turney.

Hamrick was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder and 20 years consecutive for the burglary. In 2022, he filed a motion in the Circuit Court for Calvert County claiming that his burglary sentence should have merged into his sentence for murder.

Circuit Court Judge Mark S. Chandlee rejected that claim. Hamrick appealed and now the Appellate Court has also ruled that the original sentence was legal.

Hamrick is serving his sentence of life imprisonment plus 20 years at the Jessup Correctional Institution.

Two Calvert Cliffs Homes to be Purchased, Demolished

By Dick Myers
Staff Writer

The Calvert County Board of County Commissioners has approved the purchase of two properties in Lusby on Calvert Cliffs that are in danger of falling into the Chesapeake Bay. The cost of the two purchases is slightly less than a million dollars, with the federal government picking up 90 percent of the tab and the homeowner the rest.

Hazard Mitigation Specialist Stacy O'Donnell told the commissioners during two public hearings on Aug. 27, "The Department of Public Safety, Emergency Management Division, is working with Calvert County residents and has received a Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) Hazard Mitigation (HMA) grant to acquire and demolish three homes in imminent danger due to cliff erosion. FEMA bears the costs of the projects at 90 percent of the approved budget and 10 percent by the homeowners. The Maryland Department of Emergency Management (MDEM) is the award recipient, and Calvert County is the sub-recipient. As part of the agreement, the county acts as a pass-through for the FEMA funds to acquire and demolish the properties. Calvert County must forward-fund the federal share of the project and then submit requests for reimbursement as expenses are incurred."

One property had previously been acquired. The two that were subject to the Aug. 27 public hearings and approvals are 12186 Laramie Lane for $347,327.25 and 1161 Stagecoach Circle for $638,229.70.

O'Donnell said, "An additional amendment is needed to record the private contributions the county will receive at settlement to be placed in escrow for the homeowners. These funds will be used to pay for the demolition, debris removal, and reforestation of the property. Any funds remaining after completing these tasks will be refunded to the homeowner."

O'Donnell explained, "After it's purchased, it (the property) will be returned to its natural state," adding, "There is a deed addendum that requires it to remain in its natural state in perpetuity. There are some very limited uses that it can be used for. However, because of the location of these properties, with the proximity of the cliffs and the very obvious public safety hazard that exists, those aren't likely to happen."

She was asked if the program would be a long one. She said, "Most likely, yes. Unless there is another solution that presents itself. Right now, this is the best one we have. It's the most cost effective and the safest."

Also, at the same meeting the commissioners authorized the $550,000 purchase of 13220 Dowell Road in Solomons. The vacant land is next to Hilton Garden Inn. Public Works Director J.R. Cosgrove said it "affords an opportunity to expand and improve the existing recreational park with nature trails located to the left of the 5.4-acre parcel."

Calvert Man Shares Story of 9/11 in the World Trade Center

By Dick Myers
Staff Writer

It was a bright, clear day in New York City. Joe DeFelice was in his office in the South Tower of the World Trade Center. It was September 11, 2001.

DeFelice was in charge of the observation deck at the World Trade Center for the Aramark Corporation. He had 300 employees. They had two million visitors a year.

DeFelice lived in Calvert County in the 1970's and managed the Capital Center in Washington, DC. He maintained the home there while he traveled around for his jobs and is now semi-retired in Calvert.

His office was on the 15th floor. "I was sitting at my office desk, and I heard the roar of the plane, which you kind of never forget. And that was the first plane that hit the top of the North Tower. And once I heard the roar of the plane, I looked out my window and I was between the two buildings at a window, and I saw paper and stuff floating down. It was a beautiful day, and I thought to myself, you know what, we always worried about maybe a helicopter or a small plane, you always think about that might hit the towers or something like that. And I decided to leave my office. I was worried about the power going off, and I jumped on an elevator, which you're not supposed to do, and I was with one person from the Port Authority, and I could tell something was wrong. His face, he just nodded to me, and there was fright on his face."

At that point it never crossed his mind that the south tower might also be hit. "Never, never thought that. I was worried about one. I shouldn't have taken the elevator because we'd had fire drills and emergency drills. You're supposed to take the stairwell."

DeFelice explained, "When I got down to the main floor of the building and there's crash doors that let you out," and he went between the two buildings. He was going to the command center, which was in the middle of the complex.

"Once I went through the crash doors, that's when the second plane hit the South Tower. I looked up and I saw the plane hit the tower. I saw people jumping, which I'll never forget. Very vividly in my mind, two people were holding hands, a gentleman and a woman, holding hands as they jumped out of the tower."

"My life changed." Like many war veterans, DeFelice doesn't talk about his experience a lot, but it all comes back to him at times, especially on the anniversary, such as the 23rd next week.

He had to deal with dreams, especially in the early years. "I'm not ashamed about it. I had help dealing with dreams, with the roar of the plane. I never get out of my mind the two people holding hands, jumping from the building. It took me two years to get my arms around it. To this day, once in a while when things come up about 9/11, I'll start crying. I will break down."

Recalling that day, he said, "I was running. And when I was running, I maybe went a block or two, and I landed in the lobby of a building. Nobody knew what was happening. Are we going to get attacked? What was going on? I knew that two planes hit the buildings, and it wasn't good. And a hundred of us were in the lobby lying on the floor, sitting on the floor, basically. People were screaming, crying, and it was chaos.

"All of a sudden, I can't remember how much time lapsed, we saw coming into the lobby, there were revolving doors, the smoke and mostly dust. So, at that point, we didn't know the two buildings were coming down."

He recalled, "Then it got real crazy. I started having a hard time breathing. People were screaming, yelling, and a few of us tried to calm everybody down. We got really low to the floor. And as time passed, the dust started falling, laying down on the ground."

DeFelice said, "A bunch of us saw a trickle of light coming through the windows, and a few of us decided to go outside. And we went outside. It was complete silence everywhere. People were upset. I was upset. My heart was pounding. We didn't know what to do. So, a bunch of us started walking towards Battery Park, which overlooks the Statue of Liberty. And when we got there, there was a dock there, and we saw a police or fire boat. And they asked where's the people? And we didn't know what to say. I didn't know what was going on. I didn't even know the towers were down personally. And we got on this police or a fireboat, and they took us to a triage over at Ellis Island and the Statue of Liberty on the Jersey side. And there was only a handful of us there. And they were all asking, where are the people?"

He soon learned the towers had come down. "It started to unfold that the towers came down and there were mass casualties."

"I was worried about my 300 employees. I ended up in a hospital, worried about my breathing."

"As a corporation, we lost seven employees. Five of the employees were direct reports to me. And after that, I spent four months of looking for these employees with staff members. We were dealing with over 300 employees who lost their job. It was a very, very difficult time. And after a couple of months, we realized that we could not find our seven employees. And then I started to work on what we are going to do for the families, and what are we going to do? And we formalized a plan. There was no playbook at this time for dealing with such an act of terrorism. And we formulated plans to help the families and to pay respects to the ones we lost," he said.

The next chapter in DeFelice's life defies believability, considering what he went through on 9/11. He explained, "After that, ironically, I was transferred to New Orleans. I was put in charge of the convention center in New Orleans, and I was there for a good year. And, when Katrina hit, I was lucky enough, two or three days before Katrina hit, I had to come back to the DC area for a meeting. I just missed it. But I lost everything I owned, my apartment, everything was gone. And there I felt guilty because I wasn't there to help the people. So, in a short period of time, I dealt with 9/11 and Katrina."

"I didn't get back. It took six to eight weeks to get back to New Orleans. And that's when I realized that I walked into a place where I lived and everything was just demolished," he said.

Now in semi-retirement and living in Calvert, DeFelice is putting all his experiences with disasters to good use by consulting with the American Red Cross. "It's something I started over four years ago, and I will go on disasters, once called upon, if I can do it. I've been on five, what they call disaster relief operations, and one was in New Orleans, in the Lake Charles area. And I get great satisfaction in helping people. I know what they've been through because I've been through it."

"I don't talk about it too much. Sometimes if somebody's really hurting, I'll just say, I've been through it, I've lost everything."
