MIR Owners Say Track Not for Sale

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

The Maryland International Raceway (MIR) in Budd's Creek will not be sold to an international racing umbrella organization, the ownership of the track has said, despite claims by the other party that MIR is one of seven tracks they wish to acquire.

"In response to a post from IHRA on Friday, March 7 that Maryland International Raceway was being acquired by IHRA, MIR would like to make it clear that the track is not being acquired by IHRA," the statement on MIR's website reads. "The inclusion of MIR as one of the multiple racetracks being acquired by IHRA was an error.

"MIR was not made aware of the content of the post until after it had been released. To reiterate, MIR is not selling the track to IHRA. MIR has requested that IHRA clarify its post to remove MIR as one of the listed racetracks being acquired by IHRA."

Despite MIR's demands of IHRA, the umbrella organization has yet to make a retraction either on its website or on its social media presence.

"It was previously announced that MIR will be working with IHRA on the return of the President's Cup Nationals on Aug 8-9 to MIR, and MIR remains enthusiastic about continuing to work with IHRA on this exciting event," MIR's statement reads. "MIR remains sanctioned by WDRA (World Drag Racing Association) and has their full support on this collaboration."

Jennifer Hunt, general manager at MIR said the statement released by the owners of the track, the Miller Family, led by Royce Miller, was the only statement they were providing at this time.

"That's it and it's the truth," Hunt told The County Times in a March 12 phone interview.

She offered no explanation as to how IHRA came to the conclusion that the track was up for sale.

The statement from IHRA put out last week states: "I am proud to announce that the International Hot Rod Association is purchasing seven legendary racing facilities as of today," said Darryl Cuttell, owner of IHRA. "This is just the beginning of growing IHRA into a global leader in sports and entertainment."

Cuttell said in the release that IHRA has agreed "in principle" to purchase MIR and six other such facilities in the Carolinas, Michigan and Ohio.

Cuttell's release also stated that the purchase of the property in Budd's Creek would coincide with IHRA's purchase of several event brands that would boost the schedule of races at MIR and its other prospective purchases.

"The IHRA has also agreed in principle to purchasing, hosting, and partnering with some of the most successful and popular racing series in the entire world," Cuttell stated. "These events will combine music, entertainment, and All-American family fun!"

Commissioners Approve Sale of $30 Million in Bonds

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

To fund already-approved capital construction projects, the Commissioners of St. Mary's County voted unanimously this week to approve the sale of $30 million in general obligation bonds.

This iteration of bonding authority is not the iteration that commissioners have been seeking for $71 million most recently from the county delegation of state-level elected leaders, which has since been cut to $56 million in the Annapolis legislature.

It is the first sale of bonds, said Joy Sapp, county Deputy Director of Finance, since October of 2023.

Sapp, at the March 11 commissioners' business meeting, told local elected leaders the interest rate on the bonds to be sold is 3.76 percent; that translates into an annual interest payment of $2.1 million in debt service for the next 20 years.

The first such payment will be due December of this year.

"This was already part of the plan that these [projects] would be funded this way," said Commissioner Eric Colvin. "This is nothing new."

Some of the projects the $30 million will fund include $4.1 million for improvements to the St. Mary's County Airport, $11.8 million for roadway safety improvements, $6.1 million for modernizing Lettie Marshall Dent Elementary School, $2.7 million for work on the heating, ventilation and air conditioning (HVAC) system at Piney Point Elementary School and $1.6 million for replacing various box culverts, according to county finance documents.

Business Service Tax Up for Debate in Annapolis

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

Businesses are already crying foul over a proposed new tax on service transactions between businesses of 2.5 percent — HB 1554 — that opponents complain was introduced late in the session, thus pushing key vetting rules for legislation.

"Maryland is facing yet another self-inflicted budget deficit," wrote Del. Matt Morgan (R-Dist. 29A). "But instead of focusing on fostering economic growth, Democrats are proposing a new tax that will only harm small businesses and consumers."

"Imposing a 2.5 percent business-to-business tax will only hinder our state's economic progress; at best, it will result in higher prices for consumers. At worst, it will drive businesses out of Maryland entirely."

The bill was up for debate in the Ways and Means committee of the House of Delegates this week.

The bill was introduced last week by Montgomery County Delegate David Moon (D-Dist. 20).

"Delegate Moon has never seen a tax he didn't like," said Commissioner Eric Colvin at the Commissioners of St. Mary's County business meeting March 4 upon hearing of the bill's existence. "That man loves taxes."

In last year's legislative session, Moon proposed a 6 percent service tax on all services statewide, from haircuts to oil changes.

That bill was not successful.

The Maryland Chamber of Commerce has come out in opposition to the bill, stating that: "Maryland's business community is at a breaking point. This proposed 2.5 percent tax on business services is the latest in a series of proposals that treat businesses as revenue sources rather than partners in growing the economy."

The Maryland chamber argued that the tax could cost some businesses $50,000 to $100,000 annually, with some reporting it would completely erode profit margins. "One business warned it could result in $400,000 to $500,000 in cumulative costs," a statement from the chamber reads.

"Business owners — from major associations to small businesses — are united in opposition," the chamber's statement continued. "This tax forces businesses to make impossible choices: cut staff, raise prices, or relocate."

"Many see it as the final straw after years of being treated as 'budget-fixing ATMs.'"

Anxiety Grows Over Potential Federal Layoffs

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

Last week demonstrators picketed outside Gate No. 2 of Patuxent River Naval Air Station in support of federal workers who are increasingly in the crosshairs of the Trump administration for layoffs to trim down the federal government and contain costs.

Signs read "Federal Workers are Heroes" and "Thank You Federal Workers and Veterans" while protesters chanted "Hey, hey, ho, ho Elon Musk has got to go," venting anger at the titular head of the Department of Government Efficiency which is rapidly advising the president on which jobs to eliminate, often times in what seems to some in an indiscriminate manner.

Commissioner Scott Ostrow said he spent much of his week in contact with base officials over concerns of a looming government shutdown on top of more defense-related federal layoffs.

"I've had a lot of people reach out to me concerned about possible RIFs (reductions in force)... there's still a lot to be decided," Ostrow said during the Mar 11 meeting of the Commissioners of St. Mary's County. "I know some [probationary employees] have been terminated.

"NAS [Patuxent River] has terminated some of their probationary employees, the number I do not know.

"But still, at this time, no RIFs have occurred at the airbase in the county."

A reduction in force differs from terminating probationary employees, Ostrow said, because the action does away with the employee's position and does not allow for them to be rehired. "They're not even allowed to contract that position out," Ostrow said. "So, it's very different.

Del. Todd Morgan (R-Dist. 29C), who works for a defense contractor here in St. Mary's, said the Navy is currently sending list of names to the Office of the Secretary of Defense of employees they want to exempt from any layoffs.

The Navy will make the case for those exemptions as well, Morgan told The County Times.

"After speaking with a very high-ranking officer on base on Monday, there are no layoffs yet," Morgan said. "Nobody knows anything yet because all the paperwork on individuals [the Navy wants to exempt from layoffs] is going to [the Office of Secretary of Defense.]"

Morgan said he did not know when to expect word from The Pentagon about any layoffs locally.

According to a briefing presentation to the Maryland General Assembly from the Board of Revenue Estimates this week, about 22 percent of all wages in St. Mary's County come from the federal government.

There are more than 10,000 such employees here, the highest concentration in Southern Maryland.

The average salary for federal employees here is $126,798, according to the state briefing.

There have been, however, 1,000 federal contract-related layoffs in Maryland as of February of this year, the briefing revealed.

The state's data revealed there have been 11,619 announced layoffs and "position changes" in Maryland so far this year.

Morgan held out hope that Patuxent River NAS could weather the storm of federal downsizing.

"Patuxent River NAS and Webster Field are probably in a better position than most other places in Maryland," Morgan said. "We provide direct fleet support, training and equipment for the warfighter and vital research and development and test and evaluation for critical weapons systems. "My hope is that the Patuxent River [NAS] workforce remains intact.

"No constituents have called my office about their jobs at Pax River in the last two weeks."

Morgan said that while layoffs may come, President Trump has put more spending into the continuing resolution budget bill currently before Congress, as maintaining a strong defense is one of his stated priorities.

Cicada Invasion Won't Happen This Year

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

Recent media reports have stated that Brood No. 14 of cicadas, the bumbling, buzzing red-eyed winged insects that spring from the ground every 13 to 17 years, would hit Maryland in 2025.

Now, a top entomologist is saying the much-anticipated emergence of cicadas will pass the region by this year.

Last year there was an extremely rare event involving cicadas in which two separate broods, groups of insects that usually emerge at separate times, emerged together in what University of Maryland entomologist Dr. Michael Raupp called a “cicadapalooza.”

In an interview with News Nation, Raupp said the last time two cicada broods emerged simultaneously was in 1803 when then-President Thomas Jefferson completed the Louisiana Purchase.

The emergence last year centered mainly in the area of Illinois but some also emerged in Maryland, according to Ben Beale, lead advisor at the University of Maryland’s Agricultural Extension office which operates in St. Mary’s County.

“There was only a small sliver of them that came up in Ridge,” Beale told The County Times.

When millions or more of cicadas emerge from their long maturation cycle underground, they can be immediately known by the screeching, droning sound they make.

Raupp said the song of cicadas is one of the loudest sounds in the natural world, approaching 100 decibels; one of the few calls louder is whale song.

Despite their fearsome appearance and size, cicadas are essentially harmless to humans, pets and crops.

Once they emerge their only mission, Beale said, “is to mate, lay eggs and die.”

The time they spend underground in their larval stage they take in sustenance from the roots of plants until they emerge and begin their mating cycle.

Once impregnated, females lay their eggs inside of branches of trees near the tips where they grow until they can drop to the ground and burrow back into the earth at the base of trees to begin the cycle over once again.

The emergence of cicadas is also a huge increase in the food source for certain animals such as birds and snakes, Beale said, which also see an increase in their populations with the cicada emergence because food has become so much more abundant so quickly.

Once they have died, millions of cicada carcasses litter they ground where they have fallen, along with shed exoskeletons of their skin.

The next time St. Mary’s County is set to see cicadas is in 2030 when members of what is known as Brood No. 2 are scheduled to emerge; Brood No. 14 is expected to emerge this year in the far west reaches of Virginia, most of West Virginia and central Pennsylvania.

High School Graduation Rate Hovers at 90 percent

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

The latest data on the number of high school students who graduate in four years' time in St. Mary's shows that roughly nine out of 10 students are able to accomplish that goal on average, beating out the state graduation average of 87.6 percent for the 2024 school year.

But the numbers show a slight decrease in the graduation rate compared against 2023 numbers, where 91 percent of St. Mary's seniors successfully completed a four-year course of study.

"In 2024 the graduation rate did decrease slight but it was by less than half of a percentage point," reported Tammy Burr, supervisor of assessments, to the St. Mary's County Board of Education. "

Overall the graduation rates compared to school years from 2014 through 2019 have diminished; for the prior five year period, graduation rates hovered between 93 and 94 percent, according to school system data.

Leonardtown High School had the highest graduation rate at 95.6 percent, followed closely by Chopticon High School at 92.8 percent.

Great Mills High School's graduation rate was much lower at just 84 percent.

"It's important to remember that the students in school year 2024 were freshmen during the [COVID-19] pandemic," Burr said. "They missed a large part of their freshman year."

In 2019, the year before the pandemic started in Maryland, the graduation rate for Great Mills High School had reached its highest level in 12 years of 92.99 percent, according to the latest school data.

It dropped precipitously there after more than the other two high schools.

School board member Mary Washington said she was anxious to see what strategies the administration would conceive to narrow the achievement gap in high school graduation rates.

"I worked in a Department of Defense school in Germany and there was no achievement gap," Washington said. "That was in the 1970s... so it is possible to eliminate the achievement gap."

Superintendent Dr. J. Scott Smith said the single greatest factor, with which the school system continued to struggle to ensure graduation on time, was regular attendance to class.

"Period, full stop, that's it," Smith said. "Parents, that is your primary responsibility is to make sure than your child gets on the big yellow bus every single day."

Water Storage Tanks to Improve Emergency Response Capabilities

St. Mary's County Government's Department of Public Works & Transportation (DPW&T) has installed the first 30,000-gallon water storage tank to support local fire departments in emergency response efforts. The tank was placed on Thursday, March 6, 2025, in the Porto Bello Subdivision in Callaway, as part of a multiyear capital project in partnership with local fire departments.

This initiative will enhance emergency water access by installing water storage tanks and dry hydrants in more isolated regions of the county that are not served by the St. Mary's County Metropolitan Commission (MetCom). The project aims to reduce fire risks and improve emergency response capabilities in our community.

"These water tanks and hydrants will provide a critical resource for our fire departments in areas that do not have public water service," said Jennifer Utz, Director of the St. Mary's County Department of Emergency Services. "The County is committed to supporting our emergency responders and ensuring our residents have the resources they need to stay safe. We are grateful for the support and work being done by our Department of Public Works & Transportation to make this a reality."

The 30,000-gallon tanks, measuring 10 feet wide by 54 feet long, will be strategically placed in areas of the County where water access is limited. The next tank will be installed at the Ridge Firehouse's carnival grounds. The County is working with the local fire department planning team to identify the best sites in terms of location and ability to obtain property access.

For more information about this project, please contact the Department of Public Works & Transportation at (301) 475-4200 x3565 or by email to gary.whipple@stmaryscountymd.gov.

Nolan faces a maximum sentence of 22 years in prison.

Nolan has been convicted of the following six offenses:

bond pending a sentencing hearing.

Senior Assistant State's Attorney Michael McGraw prosecuted the case on behalf of the citizens of St. Mary's County.

Corporal Dale Reppel of the St. Mary's County Sheriff's Office was the lead investigator. The Collision Reconstruction Unit of the St. Mary's County Sheriff's Office assisted with the investigation.

The Honorable Joseph Stanalonis presided over the case.

Social Media Creator Charged with Arson in St. Mary's County

The social media creator arrested recently for illegally setting fires in Charles County was arrested March 5 in St. Mary's County on nearly identical charges.

Joshua Christian-Stanley Jackson, charged with setting fire to a vacant commercial property and making a false 911 call in Charles County, was arrested in connection with a new arson case and false 911 call in St. Mary's County. Jackson was released from Charles County Detention Center on home detention.

Jackson was taken into custody without incident and transported to the St. Mary's County Detention Center, where he faces charges of second-degree arson, second-degree malicious burning, malicious destruction of property, and making a false 911 call.

Investigators from the Office of the State Fire Marshal determined that Jackson was responsible for setting fire to the exterior of a vacant home located on Maddox Road in Chaptico on February 14, 2025, just before 11:00 p.m. Deputy State Fire Marshals discovered Jackson had been the reporting party for the incident.

In addition to the arson-related charges, investigators determined Jackson made a false 911 call to report a motor vehicle accident on Three Notch Road in Hollywood late last year. This call was determined to be unfounded. Jackson made the false report to position himself to record emergency responders as they attended to the scene. He later monetized the footage by posting it on multiple social media pages.

As part of an ongoing investigation, Deputy State Fire Marshals are reviewing additional fire incidents and several other false 911 calls within Calvert County, and additional charges could follow.

Man Sentenced to 50 Years in Prison for 1,700 Pills of Fentanyl State's Attorney Jaymi Sterling announced today that John Thomas Hess, 33, of St. Inigo, Maryland, was sentenced to 85 years in prison, with 50 years of active incarceration for the importation and distribution of large amounts of fentanyl.

Hess led and organized a large-scale drug operation that funneled fentanyl throughout St. Mary's County. During an extensive investigation, law enforcement officers seized over 1,700 pills containing fentanyl. As little as two milligrams of fentanyl have proven to be lethal. The amount Hess possessed could have caused catastrophic harm with the ability to endanger thousands of lives.

"The deadly impact of fentanyl continues to devastate families in St. Mary's County, our state, and across our country," said State's Attorney Jaymi Sterling. "I promised our community that our office would prosecute cases involving opioids, such as heroin and fentanyl aggressively. We remain unwavering in our commitment to holding drug traffickers accountable and preventing this poison from destroying lives in our community. I would like to commend the law enforcement officers whose diligence and hard work ensured that these deadly pills never reached the streets in our community."

In addition to the large amounts of fentanyl recovered, officers also seized cocaine and cash further underscoring the dangerous scale of Hess's drug enterprise.

Senior Assistant State's Attorney Lisa Ridge, Chief of the Narcotics Unit, prosecuted the case on behalf of the citizens of St. Mary's County.

Corporal James Warrick of the Maryland State Police Criminal Enforcement Division and Detective Stephen Bowlan of the Calvert County Sheriff's Department were the lead investigators.

The Honorable Joseph Stanalonis presided over the case.

Traffic Stop Leads to Multiple Firearms Charges

Deputies from the Criminal Intelligence Unit of the St. Mary's County Sheriff's Office recovered a loaded unserialized firearm and arrested a suspect following a traffic stop on Monday, March 10, 2025.

Deputies initiated the stop on a white 2011 Kia Forte traveling on Great Mills Road for operating without brake lights. During the stop, deputies identified Pernell Maddox, a passenger in the vehicle, 20, of no fixed address, who is known to law enforcement. A search of Maddox led to the discovery of a loaded, unserialized Polymer 80 9mm handgun in the waistband of his pants.

Maddox was taken into custody and charged with multiple firearm-related offenses, including:

- Knowingly possessing a regulated firearm after being convicted of a disqualifying crime
- Two counts of wearing a loaded handgun in a vehicle on public roads
- Two counts of wearing a loaded handgun on his person
- Unlawfully possessing an unserialized firearm

Pernell Maddox

- Possession of a regulated firearm while under the age of 21

NAVAL AIR STATION PATUXENT RIVER News

Marine Corps MQ-9 Reapers Enhanced with Advanced Payload Upgrade

The Navy's MQ-9 Reaper test squadron at Pax River received the first SkyTower II (STII) pod in preparation for the system's initial operational capability (IOC) next year.

Air Test and Evaluation (UX) 24 loaded the new pod onto the aircraft Feb. 25, conducting initial power on checks, the first step into integrating the new capability into the aircraft platform.

"The program is excited to deliver SkyTower II for testing, marking a major milestone in our development journey," said Capt. Dennis Monagle, Multi-Mission Tactical UAS program manager. "Over the past two years, we've partnered with GALT, a small business prime vendor, to rapidly develop this unique capability using middle-tier acquisition, accelerating innovation for the warfighter. With robust system and integration testing now underway, we remain on track to achieve initial operating capability this year, delivering critical capability to the U.S. Marine Corps and the joint forces."

STII is an airborne network extension pod that enhances cross-domain communication capabilities and links communications between disparate forces. It is required to execute the Intelligence, Surveillance, and Reconnaissance (ISR) concept of operations by providing tactically relevant operational communications and data sharing capabilities with many forces in support of the MQ-9 Reapers' operational mission.

UX-24 also completed a fit check of the MQ-9 in the large anechoic chamber at Pax River in late February. The team conducted a number of tests and hoisted the aircraft for the first time as a risk reduction for upcoming ing program efforts. The tests proved the ability to safely hang the aircraft while providing power, cooling and satellite link with the aircraft for communications, command and control.

Over the next several months, UX-24 will conduct final test events before delivering the upgraded MQ-9s to the fleet.

"The team has been able to accomplish a lot of work in a very compressed timeline by developing and executing these test plans for the chamber event and STII testing," said Cmdr. Lauren Lawson, MQ-9 government flight test director. "The dedication shown and technical challenges they've overcome to conduct this critical testing to help develop the best product possible to support the Marines is truly commendable."

VMU-3 is currently flying MQ-9's in theater today and will be the first to deploy with this new system in 2026.

The MQ-9 Reaper provides Marines with a long-range ISR capability in support of maritime domain awareness and expeditionary advanced based operations in contested environments.

Navy's Carrier Airwing Flies Further with Hercules' New Tanker Approval

The Navy Reserve's KC-130T Hercules fleet, upgraded with the NP200 propeller system, is cleared to aurally refuel a significantly wider range of aircraft across the carrier airwing following envelope expansion testing at the Naval Air Warfare Center Aircraft Division (NAWCAD) which concluded in early 2025.

The test effort expands Hercules' mission – and that of the Navy's fleet reserve, which exclusively operates the aircraft – beyond its primary focus on logistics and cargo transport.

"Prior to this testing we only had a single aircraft cleared for refueling from the upgraded KC-130T," said NAWCAD's developmental test wing Commodore Capt. Elizabeth Somerville. "This advanced capability gives us flexibility in any future conflict."

Naval aviation's F-35B/C, F/A-18, EA-18, CH-53K, CH-47, H-60s and AV-8B were cleared for air-to-air refueling from

KC-130T after testing by NAWCAD federal government engineers, testers, and military test pilots from Air Test and Evaluation Squadron (VX) 20 along with industry partners who worked to make sure Hercules could safely refuel the aircraft with its upgraded NP2000 propeller system.

"If we look forward to any future fight, it's going to take intense collaboration between all of the forces: Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force, Army, Coast Guard," said Somerville. "Any resource that provides fuel airborne is going to be invaluable to all assets that are flying."

The test effort significantly increases naval aviation's operational reach and flexibility, as well as several international allies, following a request by U.S. Pacific Fleet.

The K-130T Hercules is a multi-role, long-range, land-based tactical aircraft that provides logistical support to fleet operating forces.

A U.S. Navy Reserve KC-130T refuels an EA-18G Growler in the skies over Naval Air Station Patuxent River in Maryland during testing that enabled the service's fleet of Hercules aircraft to aurally refuel a significantly expanded number of aircraft in early 2025.

Carver Community Arts Center & Makerspace Project Announced

St. Mary's County Government's Department of Recreation & Parks (R&P), in partnership with the St. Mary's County Arts Council (SMCAC) and PaxSpace, is excited to announce the Carver Community Arts Center & Makerspace project. This dynamic new facility, which will be located in the east wing of Carver Recreation Center, will provide an innovative 5,000-square-foot space for artistic and creative pursuits, offering expanded opportunities for the community to engage in the arts and technology.

The initiative, spearheaded by SMCAC, Recreation & Parks, and PaxSpace, emerged from a vision to transform a portion of the Carver facility into a hub for creativity and innovation. The project was made possible through collaborative efforts and key grant funding, including a $100,000 Maryland Makerspace Initiative Program grant award from TEDCO secured by PaxSpace for relocation and equipment purchases and a $450,000 grant from the Maryland State Arts Council's Arts Capital Grant program—the highest-scoring application among 56 submissions statewide. Strengthening the grant application, the Commissioners of St. Mary's County entered into a lease agreement with SMCAC for the space, and letters of support from the Commissioners and Delegate Brian Crosby demonstrated strong backing from key local leaders.

"This project represents a significant investment in arts and innovation for St. Mary's County, filling a critical gap as we previously had no public facilities of this kind," said Susie Glauner, Executive Director of the St. Mary's County Arts Council. "The Carver Community Arts Center & Makerspace will provide new and different opportunities to engage youth, teens, and families—an area of significant need in our community. We are thrilled to partner with PaxSpace and the Department of Recreation and Parks to bring this vision to life."

The Carver Community Arts Center & Makerspace will build upon PaxSpace's existing offerings while introducing new amenities, including:

- A pottery and glazing studio with wheels and kilns
- Stained and fused glass workshop and a small metalworking area for jewelry making
- Enhanced fiber arts equipment
- Upgraded woodworking and metalworking tools
- Expanded 3D printing and laser cutting technology

TruHome Builders Inc. has been selected as the contractor for the project, with construction set to begin once funding is disbursed from the state. The facility is anticipated to open by the end of fall 2025, contingent on state approval processes. Once operational, the Department of Recreation and Parks will coordinate youth and adult course offerings to maximize community engagement.

"The Carver Community Arts Center & Makerspace will be a game-changer for creative minds in St. Mary's County," said Jennifer Elmore, PaxSpace board member. "This new space will allow us to grow our programs, foster innovation, and provide hands-on learning experiences."

Commissioner President Randy Guy also expressed strong support for the project, stating, "The Carver Community Arts Center & Makerspace is a prime example of how collaboration between county government, local organizations, and the arts community can result in meaningful opportunities for our residents. We are grateful for the dedication of our team in Recreation and Parks and our partners at the St. Mary's County Arts Council and PaxSpace for working to make this vision a reality. The Commissioners of St. Mary's County are proud to support this initiative, especially following our unanimous vote on January 14 to designate the St. Mary's County Arts Council as the official Arts Agency for St. Mary's."

Celebrate Maryland Day at the State's Birthplace

St. Clement's Island Museum Hosting a Full Day of Fun

On Tuesday, March 25, 2025, "Maryland Day," the public is encouraged to celebrate the founding of Maryland at the state's birthplace, St. Clement's Island. St. Clement's Island Museum will offer a full day of fun from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., including free museum admission, kids' activities, free water taxi rides (9 a.m. – 2 p.m.), lighthouse tours, a food truck, and special exhibits. The event will also include a public ceremony (2 p.m.) held on the mainland and a public Mass on the island (10 a.m.) commemorating the first Mass said in the English-speaking New World.

Maryland Day commemorates the first landing of English colonists on St. Clement's Island on March 25, 1634 – a significant part of St. Mary's County's and the State of Maryland's story. The St. Clement's Island Museum, which sits just a half mile from the island from which it takes its name, is under the care of the St. Mary's County Museum Division and interprets the fascinating stories of the island and surrounding Colton's Point from colonial times until the present.

"Maryland Day is the most important event in our program year, since it marks the beginning of both St. Mary's County and the state of Maryland in 1634," says Karen Stone, Manager of the St. Mary's County Museum Division. "On this day, we honor the meeting of two cultures – the newly-arrived English and the native Piscataway – and the friendship and collaboration that ensued. It is also a day on which we celebrate Maryland's religious history and its place in the development of the statutes of religious freedom that are so pivotal in this country's history."

Celebrating Maryland Day at St. Clement's Island Museum

The day will begin at 10 a.m. with Mass on St. Clement's Island, featuring students from Father Andrew White, S.J. School in Leonardtown, who will serve as the choir and cantors.

At 2 p.m., the official Maryland Day Ceremony will take place on the mainland at the museum, featuring James Randy Guy, President of the Commissioners of St. Mary's County; Piscataway Tribal Leader Francis Gray; and other dignitaries. The ceremony will also feature an interpreter portraying Father Andrew White, S.J., who will make the yearly ceremonial presentation of gifts from the English to the Indigenous Peoples. A small public reception will follow the ceremony.

Back on the mainland, a food truck will be available from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. for the public. Attendees are encouraged to explore the museum, as admission is waived for the day. As a bonus, the museum will also display the plans for the new St. Clement's Island Museum building facility for the public.

Also, starting on Maryland Day, the museum officially kicks off water taxi operation to St. Clement's Island State Park. Boat rides occur most days through October 31, visit www.stmaryscountymd.gov/watertaxi for more information.

For more information regarding Maryland Day at St. Clement's Island Museum, please call the museum at (301) 769-2222. For hours of operation, programs, admission prices and more, visit Facebook.com/SCIMuseum or museums.stmarysmd.com

of an Aimless Mind

by Shelby Oppermann

Oh, This and That

I hope everyone is enjoying this beautiful weather. It seemed like such a long winter. A few days ago, I put on the heavy duty waterproof gloves and planted four tall periwinkle blue Phlox in some barrels by the firepit area. The flowers smell beautiful, like a strong rose. The next morning, I went out to water the flowers again... there were no flowers in one of the barrels! And then I realized why all the euonymus bushes were bare on their bottom halves. I was a little speechless. My husband was outside raking, and I yelled over to him that the darn deer had wiped out my beautiful flowers. I love deer when I see them, but they are “darn deer” when they are in our yard. For the next hour, all my husband and I could do was shake our heads and laugh a bit. What can you do?

Lots of different things have filled our time in the last few weeks. One really fun event we went to on February 22nd with friends was the Our Lady Star of the Sea Father Alexander Gala’s The Roaring 20s night at the Hollywood Volunteer Fire Department. Father Alexander was born in 1872 and ordained to the Catholic priesthood in 1912 and was named as the first resident Pastor to Solomons in 1920. Father Alexander passed away in 1946, but had a very large impact on his parish, even today. Our Lady Star of the Sea Academy opened in 1933 and is still going strong today. The event gave out lots of awards and raised funds to rebuild their pre-school buildings. It was so much fun seeing the women in flapper dresses, and the men in fedoras, suits, and vests. There was even a Keystone Cop. The DJ played music from every decade and a photo booth was there to capture the memories. Unfortunately, my flapper dress didn’t arrive until a few days ago, so I made do on the event night with a decades old long floral dress with a glittery shawl. I felt like I looked like my grandmother from the 20s, but that’s okay since I am a grandmother after all. I did wear my grandmother’s charm bracelet from the 1920’s.

We have had a few trips to Baltimore for doctors’ appointments & procedures and always enjoy visiting our favorite restaurants or finding new areas to visit. After two of the visits, we ate in Fell’s Point in the renovated Broadway Market (originally called Fell’s Point Market) which consists of two large buildings which date back to 1786 and was one of the first public markets in Baltimore. We ate at The Choptank in the back building one visit which had amazing fried oysters. And the second visit we ate in the first building which has lots of little cafes inside. We heard that Vikki’s Fells Point Deli had great Italian cold cut subs – which they did, but it still wasn’t that special taste that my husband remembers from Gallo’s Deli in District Heights in PG County where we grew up. So last week he and his son decided they would go to Gallos and get their beloved subs with the really hard sub rolls and then ride around the Hillside area where my husband lived as a teen.

My husband has also been wanting the old style large hot pretzels he had as a boy when visiting his grandparents in Philly. A week or so ago, we stopped by the new Coffee Run Bakery near Race-N In on Rt. 234/Budds Creek Rd. because we heard through our neighborhood Facebook group about how good the pretzels and everything was there. I’m personally not a big pretzel fan, but once we got inside and Ben started opening all the steam table tops on all the different types of pretzels my stomach started growling. What got me was the aroma of the pretzel dogs. We purchased a selection of items from pretzels to donuts. They also have tables full of pies and treats and homemade chow chow and other items. We got in the car, and I don’t think we were even out of the parking lot when we started eating. Robert was in heaven with his big pretzel, and I know I finished my pretzel dog before we were even back out on 234. Then I started on a Boston Cream donut, and Robert looked hurt and said, “I thought we were going to wait and have a donut moment together?” I replied, “I did have a donut moment, and it was amazing”.

To each new day’s adventure, Shelby

Robert Wynn, 72

Robert Jason Wynn, 72, of Lexington Park, MD, formerly of San Diego, CA, passed away on February 25, 2025, in Leonardtown, MD. Born on September 7, 1952, in Kingsville, TX, he was the son of the late Mary Gaynell Smith and Haskell Ray Wynn. Robert was the loving husband of the late Esther Jane Wynn, whom he married on November 10, 1979, in San Diego, CA, and who preceded him in death on November 24, 2024. He is survived by his son, Jason Gage Wynn, of California, MD, his siblings, Jim R. Wynn of Canyon Lake, TX and Ruth Powers of Dallas, TX.

Robert graduated from Pleasanton High School in 1971 and went on to earn a Bachelor of Business Administration in 1988 from National University. He moved from San Diego, CA to St. Mary's County, MD in 1992.

Robert worked for Dyncorp and then the Computer Science Corporation as a Program Manager for 30 years, retiring in 2008. He served in the United States Navy as a Petty Officer 3rd Class for six years, from January 28, 1972 to January 27, 1978. He served aboard the USS Guitarro and earned the National Defense Service Medal and the Navy Expeditionary Medal.

He was a husband, father, brother, uncle, and cousin, but mostly Robert was a kind and gentle soul who had a wonderful sense of humor. He was a man who responded to God's call to be a caregiver for his loving wife the last 10 years of her life.

The family will receive friends on Thursday, April 5, 2025, from 9:00 AM to 10:00 AM in the Mattingley-Gardiner Funeral Home, Leonardtown, MD, where a funeral service will be held at 10:00 AM in

Randy Powell, 72

Randy Boyd Powell, 72 of Avenue, MD passed away on February 26, 2025, peacefully at home with his wife by his side. He was born on September 10, 1952, in Arnett, West Virginia. He moved to St. Mary's County, MD when he was 11. Randy was a graduate of Great Mills High School in Great Mills, MD and enlisted in the United States Navy in 1970. He was on active duty in the Navy from 1970 until 1977.

During his time in the Navy, he served with Fighter Squadron 11 out of NAS Oceana, VA and deployed onboard the USS Forrestal (CVA-59). He was a plane captain for the F-4 J Phantom jets and was Final Cat Checker for his final cruise in 1974. He served his last two years of active duty as the Senior Maintenance Technician for the OV-10 Bronco aircraft at the Strike Aircraft Test Directorate at Patuxent River, MD. After leaving the Navy, Randy began employment at DynCorp and was the Airframes Shift Supervisor at the U.S. Naval Test Pilot School at Patuxent River. He was responsible for maintenance performed on all of the fixed wing aircraft operated by the test pilots during their courses of instruction. He began his civil service career in 1981. His first assignment was at Public Works at Patuxent River and then in 1983, he moved to NAS Whidbey Island in support of the U.S. Navy Metrology and Calibration Program where he served as a Type I Laboratory Metrologist. In 1986, Randy moved to NAS Lakehurst and worked at the Test Department, Naval Air Engineering Center. He was certified as a Type I/II Level Metrologist and was responsible for the construction and operation of the thermometry laboratory in support of the U.S. Naval Metrology and Calibration Program for facilities both ashore and afloat. Still at Lakehurst in 1992, Randy began his Foreign Military Sales career as the Support Equipment Acquisition Manager for the Finland F-18 Program. In 1997, Randy made his final move back to St. Mary's County to serve as the Deputy Program Manager of the Finland F-18 Foreign Military Sales program until he was selected as the Program Manager in 1999. In 2006, Randy was selected as the Deputy Program Manager of F/A-18 International Programs and served in that position until September 2014 when he retired from the Federal Government with more than 40 years of service. He was presented with the Navy's Meritorious Civilian Service award in 2013 for his work as the F/A-18 International Business and Foreign Military Sales manager. After retiring from the Federal Government, Randy went to work for a defense contractor in California, MD for six years and officially retired in 2020.

Randy loved when the weather was warm and spent the majority of his time at home in his garage. He was an avid lover of historic cars and Harley Davidsons and had a collection of both. He enjoyed showing his cars and talking to people at shows. He was mechanically inclined and could fix anything that his wife could break. As a true logistician, he always had spare parts at hand. Randy was a lifelong fan of the Baltimore Orioles and the Washington Redskins.

Randy is survived by his wife of 24 years, Katherine (nee Fuchs); son Michael (wife, Nancy) Powell, of Scotland MD; grandson Calvin Powell, of Scotland MD; stepmother Bonnie Powell, of Hollywood MD; brothers Bud James (wife, Laurie) of Lumberton, TX and Sean Powell of Hollywood, MD; and his beloved beagle Molly. Emergency Management Grant Freeze Impacts County

By Dick Myers
Staff Writer

A move by the Trump Administration to place some Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) grants on hold has left Calvert County in the lurch. The county has forward funded some of the projects in anticipation of receiving reimbursement for them and others are in the pipeline awaiting the funding.

Department of Public Safety Division Chief Michael Grierson said affected projects are:

- Hazard Mitigation Assistance unexpended funds of $654,660.94
- Outstanding reimbursements of $916,021.69
- Emergency Management Planning Grant outstanding reimbursements of $164,777.64
- State Homeland Security Program outstanding reimbursements of $38,797.90
- In progress funding of $93,000.00
- Port Security Grant Program unexpended funds of $600,000.

Public Safety Director Dave McDowell said, "We have been able to take advantage of FEMA grants to better people's lives throughout the county."

Among the projects included was the purchase and demolition of a half dozen properties along Calvert Cliffs that were in danger of falling into the Chesapeake Bay. Two have been demolished in anticipation of reimbursement from the federal government.

Grierson said, "The funding is all that's being held up right now. In other words, the process that we're going through, we can still work these projects, but it's the funding, the reimbursement right now is what's being put on hold."

He added, "They're looking at two items that, when I read this (memo) here, they're looking at NGOs or non-government organizations who are the recipients, and they're also looking for non-congregate sheltering activities," adding, "I will say that the projects that we're talking about today and everything that Calvert has does not include either one of those. Just so you know."

He said, "The hold impacts multiple grants utilized by Emergency Management, and it may be some other grants that we're not aware of. This is moving very fast right now. We still are gaining information on some of these."

One of the projects potentially affected is the $600,000 grant for the purchase of a fireboat for Solomons Volunteer Rescue Squad and Fire Department. The boat has been ordered but it will take 18 months for delivery.

Barbara Warner, grant writer for the Department of Public Safety, said, "I do want to note that the Port Security grant program is not on the list right now," but she noted everything is on the table.

Impacted also are the Emergency Management Performance Grant (EMPG), which reimburse the county for a portion of staff time (EM Division Chief, EM Specialist, & EM Office Specialist). That amounts to about $200,000 yearly. The commissioners agreed to continue to fund those in hopes the hold is lifted, but they voted to pause the signing of any other checks for the projects until more is known about the eventual outcome of the Trump Administration freeze.

Armory Project Gets Additional State Funding

By Dick Myers
Staff Writer

Calvert County has received an additional state grant for the redevelopment of the old National Guard Armory site in Prince Frederick.

The grant is for $454,270.67 and brings the total amount received to more than $2 million.

At a March 11 public hearing to add the grant monies to the county budget, Director of Economic Development Julie Oberg explained, "The Armory Site Development Project, initiated in FY 2019 by the Department of Economic Development, aims to construct an open-air, multi-use pavilion to promote economic growth and community engagement. To support this initiative, the project has received funding through the Rural Maryland Economic Development Fund, overseen by the Maryland Department of Commerce and administered by the Tri-County Council. This fund is designed to stimulate economic activity, attract private sector investment, and create jobs in Maryland's rural regions.

"To further enhance the pavilion, the Department of Economic Development requested additional funding from the Tri-County Council of Southern Maryland for an ice rink and commercial kitchen upgrades. An additional $454,270.67 has been awarded through the reallocation of these funds to Calvert County Government."

In accepting the grant, Commissioner Mike Hart said, "With all of the negativity out there, this is going to be really nice. I'm really happy. I can't wait. I'm excited."

Tri-County Council for Southern Maryland Executive Director John Hartline

Tri-County Council Executive Director John Hartline presented the check to the commissioners. He said the Rural Maryland Economic Development Fund was started for "economic development in the rural areas so they could fully recover from the pandemic and the prior economic woes of 2008, nine and 10. Turns out that the rural areas were the slowest areas to recover. So, the governor decided, with a little help from a retiring Senator Edwards from Western Maryland, to give each one of the tri-county councils $10 million to do projects in Southern Maryland to Tri-County Council put forward 29 projects. And one of those was suggested from Calvert County for the Armory Square."

Of the original monies, he said some was left over and Oberg jumped at the chance to fund the Armory project.

Town Invites Comment on Comprehensive Plan Update

The Town of North Beach will host an open house on Saturday, March 22 from 10 a.m. to noon at North Beach Town Hall, 8916 Chesapeake Avenue, as part of the town's update of the Comprehensive Plan update.

Maryland state law requires local governments to update their Comprehensive Plans every 10 years. This requirement, set by the Maryland Land Use Article, mandates that towns, cities, and counties review and revise their plans to reflect any changes in land use, demographics, housing needs, transportation, and other planning factors. The 10-year update cycle ensures that the plans stay current with evolving needs, state legislation, and community priorities.

"This is an important opportunity for the community to be directly involved and make sure the Comprehensive Plan update reflects the needs and values of our residents; your feedback is vital to that process," said Mayor Mike Benton.

Those who cannot attend will have the opportunity to provide feedback by email or on the town website. We want to make sure every town resident or business can provide feedback to accurately reflect local priorities," Benton said.

Residents and business owners are encouraged to attend the open house and provide feedback on this important initiative. For more information about the comprehensive plan update, contact Rick Crump, Director of Planning & Zoning, at 301-855-6681.

To provide feedback by email, please do so by emailing info@northbeachmd.org. Find information on the Town of North Beach online at www.northbeachmd.org. Stay up to date with on Facebook at <https://www.facebook.com/NorthBeachMaryland>.

What's with the Price of Eggs?

By Dick Myers
Staff Writer

Those eggs for this year's Easter egg hunt may have to be plastic. The price of eggs is soaring. But don't blame politics cautioned Calvert County Commissioner President Buddy Hance. The politician is also a farmer and former secretary of the Maryland Department of Agriculture, so he knows a little bit about it.

At the March 11 commissioner meeting, Hance said, "It's not Joe Biden's fault. It's avian influenza's fault. And this is a world-wide issue."

Hance explained, "Eggs are so high in the grocery store because when a chicken flock gets avian influenza, you have to depopulate the entire flock. They get rid of all of them to contain the spread. I read somewhere in some literature that last year, in this country alone, we depopulated 55 million layers. That's why eggs are eight or $9 a dozen. It has nothing to do with political leadership or inflation. It's all about supply and demand."

Hance noted, "It takes 18 months to two years to build back that production without the flu, which is still around."

"What happened recently, a backyard flock that was identified in Montgomery County that had avian influenza," Hance said. "There is a process in the state of Maryland where you're supposed to register your backyard flocks with the Maryland Department of Agriculture." He said that was started when he was agriculture secretary.

"Why do I have to do that?" he asked. "I don't want the government to know what I have in my backyard." He answered, "The importance is when you have an outbreak of this, we know where the birds are, because they're all carriers, and you need to know where all birds are to contain the spread."

"It's a very unfortunate thing, I know, for people who have backyard flocks, they get attached to their birds. When they lose those birds, I know it's an emotional issue for them."

Commissioner President Buddy Hance

Hance observed, "For producers, it's a financial hit. And generally, they don't recognize that the flocks have it until their birds are almost ready to go out. So, a producer has spent four months raising these birds and the day or two before he gets paid for all of his work, they come in and if they test positive, they depopulate the whole entire flock, and he doesn't get paid."

Hance insisted, "It's very important that you register your backyard flocks so we know where the birds are, and we can help trace and track where avian influenza is."

Hance explained, "Ironically enough, there is a treatment to prevent avian influenza, but the European Union (EU) market won't buy chickens or eggs that have been treated. So, we can fix this tomorrow. And I think I heard the president say they're going to go ahead and do that. We can stop it tomorrow and allow producers to medicate their flocks, but then it would block us out of the EU market."

"It's a very tragic thing," he concluded. "We just ask that if you have a sick bird, please call the Maryland Department of Agriculture at 410-841-5810."

Budget Process Begins in a Deep Hole

By Dick Myers
Staff Writer

As the Calvert County Board of County Commissioners (BOCC) begins to work on a budget that will be presented in late April for public hearing, their staff has presented them with a budget to begin massaging that has a $15.4 million deficit. And that doesn't include an expected $6 million in costs being passed down by the state and another possible $6 million or more in state cuts that won't be clarified until the legislature ends its business next month.

The staff presentation, during a March 11 public hearing at which no spoke, caused Commissioner President Buddy Hance to send a pessimistic message.

Hance said, "We are not going to raise taxes. We did that last year. That's one of those things you've got to do once in a while, but you can't make a habit of that. And we are not going to use the fund balance as much as possible, which means to cut this budget, you all are going to feel it."

"I predict that in some way, shape or form, you're going to feel a reduction in county services. There's no way we can take $20 million out of our budget and not have an impact on the services that you all see. Whether it's patching roads, when you can dump your trash, when a recreational center is open. We have to reduce our costs. Our goal is to protect staff as much as we can and not have reductions."

Hance added, "I can assure you that we and staff are going to work as hard as we possibly can to balance this budget and you not feel impacts. But I don't see any way humanly possible that we can do that."

Several of the commissioners took a more optimistic approach. Commissioner Catherine Grasso said, "I don't know if it's going to be that bad, but it's going to be bad when we start absorbing millions of dollars that we've not had to absorb in the past. But we'll get through it. We'll do what we have to do, and we'll work together."

Earlier Hance said, "I just want to remind everybody that this is the staff recommended budget. It's a list of their wants and what they believe are their needs. We have had no role in the development of this budget, and so tonight is the first time we get to see it as a board just like you. But this begins a process that'll take about six weeks, and I can assure you it will not look the same when we get done with it as it does tonight."

County Administrator Mark Willis said, "This year we are facing a budget shortfall driven by rising costs, economic shifts, reductions in federal and state funding, many of which are or may be passed down to local governments to absorb. And you can see that happening already. Like any household or business, we must balance our budget, our expenses with our revenues, and currently expenditures exceed available resources. While this presents challenges, it also provides an opportunity to access priorities and to make strategic adjustments to maintain essential services for residents and businesses.

"This year, we have implemented a zero-based budgeting on approach where departments build their budgets from the ground up rather than relying on prior year allocations."

Director of Finance and Budget Bruce Miller said, "It should be emphasized that the recommended budget before you reflects the request from the departments that provide the same level of service as that provided for in Fiscal Year 25. It is our expectation that finance and budget will work with the county administrator's office and outside departments to identify expenditure reductions necessary to present a balance Board of County Commissioner budget."

"Additional objectives require aligning the use of county resources to BOCC priorities. These priorities include fiscal responsibility, public safety, and safe neighborhoods, education and youth development, land preservation, and maintaining the county's rural character, and finally, economic development."

Miller said, "The county's Fiscal Year 26 revenue projection decreased $590,600. So essentially our revenues are flat, year-over-year. The primary reason for this decrease is the elimination of fund balance as a source of funds compared to Fiscal Year 25. But on the positive, the property tax increased by $6 million, and this increase is due to increase of those valuations. Another increase is the account's income tax estimate. This estimate increased $3.5 million over 25, and that's because of the rate increases impacted or imposed in the Fiscal Year 25 budget process."

Property tax makes up 59 percent of the revenue and income taxes 31 percent.

The state-mandates Maintenance of Effort (MOE), which is the minimum education funding required from the county, has been reduced by the state, potentially impacting the amount of monies the county gives for education. At the hearing Superintendent of Schools Dr. Andraé Townsel presented the school board budget, previously reported on by The County Times.

The Staff Recommended Budget includes $447,013,420 in revenues and $65,721,859 in expenses.
